Library Report - Spring 2012 Newsletter

CHANGES TO THE LIBRARY:

For the next few weeks (except March 19 and 26) the SVGS library volunteers will be busy early on Monday mornings before the Burlington Library opens. Now that the new shelves are installed we are developing an alpha/numeric system for organizing the collection. The process is time consuming as each book is examined as to how it coincides with the entry on the master database of the library holdings. Standards and procedures are being developed for the shelving and location of the books. The goal is to present to our users an efficient and easy to navigate collection. If you would like to help with this project please contact Margie Wilson at wilsongm@frontier.com or leave a message (757-6224). It would be fun to have you join us on the team!

NEW BOOK:

A new local history book, Croatian Fishing Families of Anacortes by Bret Lunsford has been added to the Skagit County section of SVGS' collection. Here is a brief review of the book:

"Spanning a hundred years of Puget Sound maritime history, Croatian Fishing Families of Anacortes fills an important gap in the northwest bookshelf. 193 vintage photographs and numerous collected oral histories create a fully detailed portrait of everyday life in a small island community in a unique time and place.

Bret Lunford, author of Images of America: Anacortes has compiled a new book on his hometown's unique place in the history of the Pacific Northwest. The book contains: Collected rare historic photographs of maritime Anacortes, Washington and its Croatian fishing community; Maps of historic house locations; Names from the Seafarer's Memorial; Directory of early purse seiners."

This fascinating book is the newest addition to SVGS' Skagit County book collection.

OTHER LIBRARY NEWS:

There will be an Orientation/Training for new and current volunteers on Monday, March 26, 9:00 -11:00am at the Burlington Library. The orientation/training will begin at the Burlington Library conference room and then move into the library. There have been many new changes to the library so current volunteers will also learn a great deal about the collection. Shirley Christenson will discuss some resources in the library that are good places to start when helping visitors to the genealogy section. Volunteers are always needed to help on Mondays from 11-1pm so please consider joining our fun team.

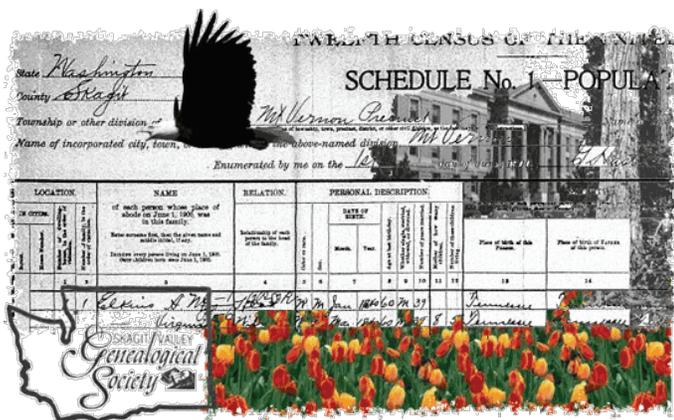

The Burlington Library now offers laptop computers to be reserved and checked out by the genealogy library volunteers to assist visitors to the genealogy library with online searches. Familysearch.org is a free website and could be used by the volunteers to help visitors on the spot with their research. We'll find out more about this at the Orientation/Training session.

To sign up for a Monday volunteer shift at the Burlington Library genealogy section please contact Nancy Bonafede, the library volunteer scheduling manager. Nancy Bonafede: 360-856-2581, or Email: nbonafede@comcast.net. All of the volunteers would appreciate another member on the team as "many hands make light work." Thank you for signing up!

Monday 29th December 1862—Old Mr. Parker died yesterday morning. He has been to see his son in the 60th Reg. & came home sick. Only lived a few days after he returned. Yom Parker died whilst he was there. George Boyd died a short time ago in the same Reg. I crochet some on Hattie's glove today & went to Parker's burial, but few people there. I went in the buggy. Charlie drove. The children rode as far as the mill & then came back. Zona cried a little to go with me. Miss Mathies brought home Harrie's socks this evening not kniw as I directed, so I only paid her 50 cts.

Hamilton Cemetery Reflections

A cemetery is a quiet place of peace where the soft breezes blow. Even the birds sing in hushed song not disturbing the silence. The few shrubs and trees bloom year after year not noticed by anyone of earthly life. The long green expanse is broken sharply by upright and low lying rectangles of marble and granite. Monuments blackened by the timeless battle with the elements strain to stand straight and tall. The hard cold granite and marble soften with the green-brown moss along the with the gray-black lichen growing in the crevices of symbols. Look closely at the symbols; brush away the bits of dust and pieces of grass. The symbols are names and dates, craved deeply into the markers defying the elements to erase them. The warmth of the past surrounds those names in a loving caress. The names are connected to each other in a time and place, in a long ago past and in the present. People not known come alive in the history of the stone. The sun is warm upon my face as I go from stone to stone recording names and dates—a reader of stones.

OF THE GENEALOGY GUYS PODCAST

Internationally known genealogist, George G. Morgan, will headline the Spring 2012 Seminar presented by the Seattle Genealogical Society from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, May 19, at the Museum of History and Industry, 2700 24th Avenue East, Seattle.

Morgan will talk about how to develop an ancestry profile, methods for advanced research, and "sidestep genealogy," or creative ways to solve problems. He is the author of 10 books and hundreds of articles published in magazines and on websites, as well as president of Aha! Seminars, Inc., a company that provides continuing education for libraries and genealogical societies around the world.

Fees for seminar participants are $40 for SGS members and $50 for non-members who pre-register. Walk-ins will be charged $10 more. Learn more about the Spring 2012 Seminar on the new SGS website. See <http://seattlegenealogicalsociety.org/content/seminars> for the brochure and registration information. Registration deadline is May 11. More information is available by calling SGS at (206) 522-8658 or e-mailing sgsseminar@gmail.com.

National Conference Spotlightwww.rootstech.org/

May 9-12, 2012, The National Genealogical Society's Family History Conference will be held in Cincinnati, Ohio at the Duke Energy Convention Center. August 29 to September 1, 2012, The Federation of Genealogical Societies Annual Conference will be held in Birmingham, Alabama. More information to follow at <http://www.fgs.org/2012conference/>

Help Index the 1940 U.S. Census Online: On April 2, 2012, NARA will provide access to the images of the 1940 United States Federal Census for the first time. Unlike previous census years, the 1940 U.S. Federal Census will be released made available as digital images without charge. However, it will take weeks, at best, before an every-name index will be available. You can help speed up the process.

Upon its release, the 1940 U.S. Census Community Project, a joint initiative between Archives.com, FamilySearch, findmypast.com, and other leading genealogy organizations, will coordinate efforts to provide quick access to these digital images and immediately start indexing these records to make them searchable online with free and open access.

You can make a difference by receiving online training to use the FamilySearch indexing system, and then joining in the project to index the 1940 census, all in the comfort of your own home and at your own pace. For more information, go to <http://the1940census.com/>.

President's Message

Spring is almost here and it is time for the flowers to start to grow and flourish. Take all your seeds and plant them in your family so they can grow and grow. All that information needs cultivated to make your family tree get big and strong.

Well, this year looks good so far. The Society is planning a 25th Anniversary, it was started in 1987. We have classes being planned and a seminar, trying to get some cemetery books done.

The Society would like to thank Sylvia for her volunteering as publication chairman. She has resigned this position so it is currently in need of another volunteer. Remember it only takes a couple of hours a month. Societies runs on volunteers and they are much in need, not only in our s but in others. Don't be shy or afraid you can't do it, we have procedures to follow or just ask. The chairperson has a committee to help her or him.

We are planning field trips also. Some local and eventually maybe to places further away. If you are interested let us know if you would like to attend or give us an idea of where you might like to see a field trip to.

Dottie Chandler, President

Serious Changes to Northwest Regional Archives

Legislative efforts to get the State's budget under control is leading to significant cuts to the State archives system. The Washington State Archives Northwest Regional branch at Bellingham is now staffed by only one full-time records management specialist and a part-time archival management specialist. This branch covers Clallam, Jefferson, Island, Snohomish, Skagit, San Juan and Whatcom counties. James Copher, our super archivist of many, many years, was saved from layoff by filling a position in Olympia. He commutes to and from his Bellingham home on weekends. Effective March 5, 2012, the NW branch archives will be closed on Mondays and Tuesdays, but Allison Constanza, who used to work at the NW branch, has been brought in to perform the archivist function on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 8:30 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. To provide security and assistance, only four researchers at a time will be permitted to work in the archives. Those wishing to do research in the archives will have to make an appointment. Telephone (360) 650-7930 or (360) 650-3125; email: NWBranchArchives@sos.wa.gov. To provide operating funds for a bare minimum of full-time staff at each archive, perhaps some of the $1,028,000 funding for the Washington State Heritage Center could be sacrificed, but it is rather late in the current legislative session to start a campaign to reinstate funds for staffing the branch archives. Thursday, March 8, is the last day allowed for a regular session under the state constitution, and Monday, February 27, is the last day to read in opposite-house committee reports from the House fiscal committees and the Senate Ways & Means and Transportation committees. Frankly, I think it would be extremely hard at this point to justify shifting funds to allow access to records five days a week instead of three days. Unfortunately, supporting genealogical research is not a critical mission of the archives. (Heresy, you say!) The higher responsibilities are to provide access to originals of historic legal records (land, courts, etc.) and to monitor open government, but even for those purposes pushing for a last minute floor fight is asking a bit much of our legislators.

Spotlight: Skagit Valley Genealogical Society, Washington

by Valerie Beaudrault, Assistant Editor

Skagit Valley Genealogical Society, Washington

Skagit County is located in northwest Washington, about fifty miles south of the Canadian border. Mount Vernon is its county seat. The Skagit Valley Genealogical Society has made a number of resources available on its website. Click on the Ceme-

Obituary Index

The database indexes Skagit County obituaries that have been extracted from a variety of weekly newspapers in the county's small communities and from the daily editions of the Skagit Valley Herald. The Skagit Valley Genealogical Society has been collecting obituaries since 1987. There are approximately 29,000 records in the index. The database includes some obituaries from the 1970s and early to mid-1980s, with more consistent coverage from 1987 through September 2008. You may request copies of the obituaries for a small fee by writing to the Skagit Valley Genealogical Society.

Skagit County Death Index

This alphabetical-by-surname database contains 679 records. It is drawn from a Skagit Valley Genealogical Society publication, Skagit County, Washington, Death Records 1891–1908. The records in the index were extracted from records on file with the Skagit County Auditor's Office. The data fields in the index include name, date of death, and age at death.

Pioneer Book

This alphabetical database is an index to more than 4,000 early residents of Skagit County who died between 1926 and 1955. The records are drawn from The Pioneer Book of Skagit County, Washington, a publication of the Skagit Valley Genealogical Society. The data fields in the database are surname, given name, age, and date of death.

Union Cemetery, Sedro-Woolley, Washington

This alphabetical database is an index to the records of Union Cemetery, Sedro-Woolley, Washington. The burials indexed here cover the period from 1889 through 1992. The data fields in the index are site (burial location), name, birth date, and death date.

You will also find links to an every name index to the 1910 federal census for Skagit County, an every name index to the 1910 federal census for all counties in Washington State, and the Skagit County District Clerk's Report on the Birdsvew School (1888–1932), including a name index to children who attended the school. Please note that the Washington State index was completed in 2005 and has since been moved to The Washington State Digital Archives.
